

Accusative Case: Plural Nouns and Adjectives

So far in class we've discussed nominative case in singular and plural, and the accusative case in singular. Today, we're going to talk about the accusative case in plural. For neuter and feminine nouns and adjectives, the accusative plural will look exactly like the nominative plural. So neuter nouns and adjectives will end in -a, and feminine nouns and adjectives will end in -e (except for F2 nouns, which will continue to end in -i.)

Masculine nouns and adjectives will look somewhat different in accusative plural. Rather than ending in -i, they will also end in -e. This will be the case with all masculine nouns and adjectives in plural, even nouns that have the extended plural ending, thus drugovi in accusative case would be drugove.

Let's look at some examples:

On ne voli njene/njezine roditelje.

He doesn't like her parents.

Ja sad mislim na crvene mačke.

I'm thinking about black cats right now.

Mi gledamo na lepe/lijepe ptice.

We are looking at the beautiful birds.

Ko/Tko piše duga pisma?

Who is writing long letters?

Baš volim male gradove.

I really love small cities.

Kupujemo ukusne sireve i dobro vino.

We are buying delicious cheeses and good wine.

Ona neće ružne stvari.

She doesn't want ugly things.

Tvoj otac traži svoje pse.

Your father is searching for his dogs.

Tamo gde/gdje vaša majka čita nove duge knjige.

There where your mother is reading new long books.

Now, can you come up with your own examples?
